
Pulmonary Deposition Retention Inhaled Aerosols Hatch

airway deposition and retention of liposomal amikacin for ... - a study that investigated lung deposition and clearance of inhaled amikacin-loaded liposomes in healthy male volunteers. 5-8 objectives • the primary objective was to determine, by gamma scintigraphy, the pulmonary deposition and retention of nebulized lai in patients with treatment-refractory ntm lung disease. 3 deposition, retention, and clearance of inhaled particles - 338 the major regions of the respiratory tract differ considerably in structure, size, function, and sensitivity or reactivity to deposited particles. some also have different mechanisms for particle elimination. thus a complete determination of dose from an inhaled aerosol depends on (1) the regional deposition, (2) the retention times at the deposition sites and along the elimination ... lung dosimetry: pulmonary clearance of inhaled particles - lung dosimetry: pulmonary clearance of inhaled particles g. oberdorster department of environmental medicine, university of rochester, rochester, ny 14642 in lung dosimetry of inhaled particulate compounds one has to consider both deposition and clearance kinetics throughout the respiratory tract. the deposition, retention, and translocation of ultrafine ... - here, we report on lung deposition, retention and clearance, and translocation of 100-nm radiolabeled carbon particles in three study groups: healthy volunteers, cigarette smokers, and patients with chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (copd). cigarette smokers and patients with copd are believed to be especially susceptible to inhaled particles. lobar evenness of deposition/retention in rat lungs of ... - of retention/deposition of inhaled 20nm nps in rats for all five lobes in terms of mass per unit tissue weight contrasts with earlier studies reporting greater apical lobe deposition of inhaled micro-particles in rodents. the difference is most likely due to preferred and efficient deposition of inhaled nps by diffusion vs. additional observations on the lung retention of inhaled, relatively ... - study in which the deposition and retention of relatively insoluble fuse aluminosilicate particles labelled with ¹⁴⁴ce were studied. the amount initially deposited in the dogs, which was 50% of the amount inhaled, was divided approximately evenly between the ciliated nasopharyngeal-tracheobronchial region and which apparatus for inhaled pentamidine?. a comparison of ... - which apparatus for inhaled pentamidine?. a comparison of pulmonary deposition via eight nebulisers ... the retention of marker 24 h after inhalation ... pulmonary deposition of pentamidine is shown in table 2. total, peripheral, and upper lung deposition was ... deposition, retention and translocation of ultrafine ... - lung retention of inhaled ultrafine particles, page 2 ... here we report on lung deposition, retention and clearance, and translocation of 100 nm ... and pulmonary function parameters were ... inhaled corticosteroids in asthma management - inhaled corticosteroids in asthma management patrick o sobande md and carolyn m kercksmar md introduction ... high pulmonary deposition greater pulmonary anti-inflammatory activity ... high pulmonary retention prolonged maintenance of targeted anti-inflammatory activity properties that affect safety and tolerability inhaled bronchodilator administration during mechanical ... - heliox provides better aerosol lung-retention than air. 29 during mechanical ventilation heliox increases mdi albuterol airway deposition. 28,31 however, the nebulizer should not be powered by heliox, because heliox is less effective at nebulizing the liquid. a practical method to achieve maximum pulmonary aerosol deposition with a nebulizer ... deposition and retention of ultrafine aerosol particles in ... - the presence of nanoparticles in inhaled air at the workplace and acute morbidity and even mortality in the elderly. a theoretical model of deposition of 20 nm particles in the human alveolus was formulated. gas flow structure and deposition rate were calculated for alveoli with different elastic properties of lung tissue. challenges in nonclinical development of inhalation drug ... - challenges in nonclinical development of inhalation drug products luqi pei, ph.d. senior pharmacologist dparp, cder ... regional deposition of inhaled particles as a function of particle size in humans ... snipes, 1985: species comparisons for pulmonary retention of inhaled particles. in: concepts in inhalation toxicology edited by pharmacokinetic profile of inhaled submicron particle ... - pulmonary histopathology was performed on rats sacrificed at the 336-hour time point. results: paclitaxel was detectable and quantifiable in the rat lung for both inhaled nanopac arms sampled at the final necropsy, 336 hours postadministration. substantial paclitaxel deposition and retention resulted in an order of
